In response to the ongoing concerns related to the spread of the Coronavirus (COVID-19) and to help minimize potential exposure to our employees, their families, and our community, Newman & Lawler, PLLC has set all of its employees up to work from home so that we may safely remain open and continue to meet all of your document preparation needs. We all continue to have access to email and you can continue to reach us at the same phone number, 817-820-0551 or email us at nlmail@newlawpc.com.

We do know that some of you routinely refer your non-title walk-in customers and we certainly appreciate that each and every day. While we are working from home, please feel free to continue to send those referrals our way, but please let them know that they will need to call us and we can then walk them through the process of handling their needs over the phone and online.
